OGDENSBURG WELCOMES YOU

Ogdensburg is situated on the beautiful St. Lawrence River and offers many exciting recreational choices including fishing, hunting, boating, swimming, golfing and skiing. Ogdensburg has a four acre Greenbelt, a 45-slip municipal marina, twin boat launch, picnic areas, lighted tennis court, exercise trails, and ice arena. Ogdensburg is the only community designated as a city in St. Lawrence County.

You will be amazed at what you can discover in Ogdensburg

Ogdensburg is a must-see for American history enthusiasts. More than 250 years ago it was the site of the last battle of the French and Indian War between France and Britain and also played a role in the Revolutionary War of 1812.

Much of the action centered on the riverfront site of Fort de la Présentation, established in 1749 by French born Abbé François Piquet. The Fort La Présentation Association hosts special events throughout the year, including its annual Founder's Day Weekend in July that draws hundreds of reenactors from across the northeast and Canada to Ogdensburg, to conduct historically accurate land and water "battles."

“Ogdensburg is a wonderful city. People are friendly and eager to help our neighbors. Besides, there is something for the whole family to see and do. So come for a visit and stay for a lifetime!”

— Laura Pearson, Director, Ogdensburg Chamber of Commerce

American art history can be found at Ogdensburg's famous Frederic Remington Museum. This premier collection of works by the American painter and sculptor is housed in the Parish Mansion on Washington Street.

The Dobisky Visitor's Center is located on Riverside Avenue along the banks of the St. Lawrence River. Boaters can use one of the city's transient slips and take advantage of the center's lounge, kitchen and hot showers.

Information panels inside the center tell of Ogdensburg's colorful history from the rum-running days of Prohibition, and also of its traditional role as a destination for fantastic sport fishing for muskie, carp, bass and more sought-after species. Ogdensburg hosts local and regional fishing tournaments throughout the year.

LOCAL LEGENDS

LIGHTHOUSE: The Ogdensburg Lighthouse at Van Rensselaer Point, St. Lawrence River, was completed by the federal government in 1835 and was completely redone and made taller in 1869-70. The lighthouse was an aid to navigators entering the Ogdensburg Harbor at night. It was a difficult passage through cross currents along narrow winding channels between shoals. The Government stopped using the lighthouse in 1942 and it was decommissioned some time later. In 1964 Thomas & Laurel Roethel purchased it as a summer home. In 2011 Laurel Roethel relit the light in the tower for the first time in decades. The Roethels hope to open the Lighthouse to the public after the renovations to the interior of the tower are completed.

See stained glass windows from the famous Harry J. Horwood

STAINED GLASS: Ogdensburg has a wealth of art in stained glass and windows in some of the local churches. Harry J. Horwood of Ogdensburg, internationally known stained glass artisan, a descendant of generations of stained glass artisans, executed windows located in the following churches in Ogdensburg. First Baptist, Congregational, Norte Dame, and First Presbyterian. His windows in St. Mary's Cathedral were destroyed in the fire of 1947. Many private homes in the city have some decorative Horwood stained glass windows. Today, Ogdensburg's David Martin has photographed every single stained glass window in St. Lawrence County and has cataloged the history.

THINGS TO SEE & PLACES TO GO

A tall ship visits Ogdensburg.

Scandalous

'America' Elena Vespucci was ensconced in the Remington mansion and living, said one journal "in a state of immoral intimacy" with George Parish, a merchant-landowner. While scorned by many of the villagers, America was especially fond of and generous to the children of the village.

Since its inception in 1923, the museum has presented Frederic Remington's art and studio treasures in the context of the historic Parish Mansion. Built in 1809 and renovated around 1900, the mansion itself satisfies the cravings of history buffs. Its furnishings evoke the comfortable lifestyle of Frederic Remington and his cohorts. Remington's widow Eva, lived in this house from 1915 to 1918. In her will, she left her collection of Remington's art, archives, and much of their household furniture to form the museum's collection.

Expansion has provided additional gallery space that provides a fitting and secure context for Remington's paintings, drawings and bronzes.

The museum's newly developed education center provides opportunities for families to explore aspects of Remington's world and artistic process. Directed primarily to kids between four and fourteen. This hands-on center encourages fun with creative play, sketching and modeling with artist's materials. "Kid" was Frederic Remington's nickname for his wife, Eva.

ST. LAWRENCE RIVER

The St. Lawrence River, Ogdensburg's greatest attraction, offers not only fishing, boating and diving but also beautiful scenery. Along the banks of the St. Lawrence River is the Greenbelt which includes the Dobisky Visitors Center, Morrisette Park, Kids Kingdom playground, skateboard park, horseshoe pits, tennis courts, swimming pool, picnic area, boardwalk, boat launch and Marina. It is a perfect family recreation destination.

SCUBA DIVING

The St. Lawrence River is a scuba divers treasure-filled playground. While diving around Ogdensburg keep you eyes open for: automobiles that went through the ice while smuggling whiskey to the US during prohibition, ferry tokens, cannonballs, anchors and shipwrecks. Old Whiskey bottles full of moonshine might even be found! If you find one, don't remove the cork or drink the fluid, as it should be tested for actual substance. If you are lucky, one of the lost-in-time treasures that you uncover might be an actual bottle of whiskey. If authentic old mellow whiskey, you will have yourself a collectible item worth over a grand. Many bottles are found in "bottle alley" just off the Ogdensburg Port.

Experience the sights and sounds of the Ogdensburg International Seaway Festival parade.

OUR AMISH NEIGHBORS

New York's Amish population is the fastest growing in the US and St. Lawrence County is home to the second largest Amish community in the state. The Old Order Amish descendants of the radical Anabaptist Reformation, first came to the North Country in 1774 in search of available farmland. St. Lawrence County is now home to 11 different Amish communities, each with their own churches, schools and customs. Understanding some of these customs, such as reliance by many Amish on slow-moving horse-and-buggies, can help keep our roadways and our communities safer.

ST. LAWRENCE GOLF COURSE & WINTER RECREATION CENTER

LOCATION: 4955 State Highway 37, Ogdensburg, NY. GOLFING:

The nine-hole St. Lawrence Golf Course is open April 26 through Columbus Day Weekend. Tee times may be reserved two days prior to play by calling 315-393-2286. WINTER MONTHS: Cross-country skiing is permitted on the parks trails, and when weather permits sledding is allowed on the sledding hill. The warming building is open on weekends.

The Ogdensburg Golf Club was started in 1919 by a group of five Ogdensburg area golfers as a private golf and social club. Since then it has been sold to New York State which has developed it into a park facility which includes a concession, 9 hole golf course, putting green, club house, pro shop, cart rentals, driving range and cross-country ski trails.

SINGER CASTLE ON DARK ISLAND

LOCATION: 9 Miles from Alexandria Bay, NY. Boat transportation to the island can be booked by calling Uncle Sam Boat Tours at 1-800-253-9229 and Rockport Boat Line at 1-800-563-8687. Shuttles are also available from Schermerhorn Harbor at 1-315-324-5966. Private boat dockage is available on our 600 foot dock. ADMISSION: adults: $14; children 4-12: $7; military discount. Prearranged private tours can be arranged from additional cost.

Proudly perched atop a seven acre island in the middle of the majestic St. Lawrence River sits the well-preserved five story granite "hunting lodge" constructed for the wealthy outdoors man and Singer Manufacturing Company's fifth president, Frederick Bourne. Designed by architect Ernest Flagg, this 28 room castle is furnished much as it was for the Bournes from 1905 to 1919 and one of their daughters who used it until 1961. Bourne's island estate included two boat houses, two ice houses, a pergola, flower garden and a green that was once a grass tennis court and a squash court. A guided tour of this grand home and its grounds allows visitors to view and imagine the privileged lives of those who frequented the Thousand Islands area in the midst of the grandeur of the Golden Age.
